HAD HARD BATTLE WITH BLACKSNAKE

Snake, Young Lady, Boy and Dog in Lively Battle with Blacksnake
Six Feet Long. Reptile finally Killed.

A fierce battle between a snake, a boy, a young lady and a dog took place in Butler township, after a long struggle resulting in the death of the reptile. The snake which was more than six feet long was of the black variety and several inches thick. The other participants were Miss Blanche Deatruck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Deatruck; Lloyd Garretson son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Garretson, and Miss Deatruck's dog.

Miss Deatruck was on her way to the mail box when the snake crossed the road. Her dog made a dive for it and caught the long reptile which at once showed fight. It wound its thick coils about the body of the canine and started biting it in the head.

The dog became fairly wild with fright and pain and ran towards Miss Deatruck who was fortunately joined at the time by Lloyd Garretson who was on his way to the Bridges School. He threw stone after stone at the part of the snake not coiled about the dog. Miss Deatruck gathering ammunition while he threw it. It was several minutes before they finally mastered the snake and succeeded in killing it. Then the dog got his revenge, shaking the snake until it was minus both head and tail.

The remainder of the body was hung on a tree and is being viewed with interest by many visitors.

REVIEWS THE PAST SUMMER

Gettysburg Business Man Calls Attention to the Many Attractions in Gettysburg during Past Season.

Gettysburg's best summer for many years has come to a close and in reviewing the business of the past few months a local business man in an interview said:

"The town has had, perhaps, the greatest number of summer visitors in the past fifteen years. Not only has the number exceeded those of former years but the crowds came at so many different times that the business value can scarcely be estimated with any degree of accuracy.

"We had our usual good day on Memorial Day, the Knights of the Golden Eagle convention in May helped some and there were other occasions during the summer worthy of note. Of course the two military encampments were our big revenue producers.

"Much has already been said of the actual value the town of the maneuver camp lasting the entire month of July. Merchants are realizing more and more the benefit to the town of that camp. Its money was widely distributed and not only did the town stores benefit at the time by furnishing supplies but since then we find people more ready to buy. They have more money to spend.

"The state encampment in August helped wonderfully the business of the town. This alone is usually considered sufficient to make a big summer for Gettysburg. Add to these the Pennsylvania monument dedication, and the coming Corby monument dedication and the town should feel well satisfied with the season just closing."

 The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have taken one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Declined to Tarry.
 Here is one of F. R. Benson's stories of his early days of tramping in the English provinces:
 "At one town I was playing to poor business. The occupants of the gallery were few and not overenthusiastic. I was about to make an exit on the line, 'Tarry awhile and anon I will return,' upon which a voice from the gallery exclaimed: 'Don't trouble to return, guv'nor. We're going and shall not be back'."—Chicago Tribune.

FEDERAL POSTS FOR COLORED MEN
 Taft to Name W. H. Lewis Assistant Attorney General.
 WAS OPPOSED FOR PLACE

Lewis is a Successful Lawyer, a Graduate of Harvard, and Won Many Prizes While a Student.
 Washington, Oct. 27.— President Taft, it was stated, has decided to appoint a colored man to the highest office in an executive branch of the government ever held by a member of that race.
 William H. Lewis, at present an assistant district attorney at Boston, is to be made an assistant attorney general of the United States.
 The president has also determined to make Charles A. Cotterell, of Toledo, also a negro, collector of customs at Honolulu. This recognition of the colored race is expected to have political results in Ohio and Massachusetts.
 Lewis is a graduate of the Harvard law school, and played center rush on the Harvard eleven in the early nineties.
 The appointment has been agreed upon by the president and Attorney General Wickersham. Just what duties will be assigned to the new assistant when he takes office have not been decided.
 The appointment of Lewis is in line with President Taft's policy of recognizing colored men in the government service, but taking these appointments as far as possible out of the southern states, where friction has been caused in the past by colored federal office holders.

Was Opposed Two Years Ago.
 More than two years ago it was rumored that Lewis might be made assistant attorney general at Washington, but opposition developed on account of his color. Lewis has been very successful in practice. He has made an excellent record as assistant attorney for the eastern district of Massachusetts. It was not denied that he was at that time qualified for the office mentally, but it was feared that his presence in the department of justice would cause a great deal of friction, since in the department there are many old-time southerners, among them Colonel John S. Mosby.
 William H. Lewis is at present in charge of the naturalization cases for the United States attorney for the Massachusetts district. He was born in Portsmouth, Va., in 1868, and after being graduated from Amherst college in 1892, entered the Harvard law school and was graduated from that institution in 1895. During his stay at Harvard he played center rush on the 1892 and 1893 football teams and has been one of the Harvard football coaches up to within a year or two.
 He served one year in the lower branch of the Massachusetts legislature. Lewis was appointed an assistant United States attorney in 1903, and has been connected with that office ever since. He is married and lives in Cambridge. His father was a colored minister. Lewis was ambitious and worked as a waiter to earn his college expenses. His sister is the wife of Dr. France, a colored physician of Portsmouth.

Prominent in Politics.
 He was captain of the football team, class orator and won the Harvey prize debate and the Hyde prize contest in oratory. In Harvard he was regarded as the best footballer the university had ever played on the gridiron. In 1895 he was admitted to the bar and he soon built up a paying practice. He served two terms in the Cambridge common council, and twice refused the nomination for the legislature. He was at last induced to run and won by a big majority.
 Lewis was a noted center rush on the Harvard football eleven in the early nineties, and was the first colored man to attain prominence in the game. He was selected by Walter Camp as the All-American center for 1892. He was a student of the game, as well as player, and published a book on "How to Play Football." Subsequent to graduating from Harvard he was a coach and football official.

Lumbermen Aid Forest School.
 Chicago, Oct. 27.—The National Lumber association will give $100,000 to Yale university forest school. Announcement of the gift was made by the board of governors. The fund was raised by subscription, the final $7000 being obtained just prior to the announcement.
 Eagle Swoops on Child.
 Eola, Ill., Oct. 27.—An eagle with a spread of wings of eight feet was killed by Conrad Brummell when it swooped down on his daughter Anna, six years old, as she was playing in a pasture. The eagle darted twice at the child, who ran for refuge beside a pet cow.
 Follows Husband to Death.
 Houston, Tex., Oct. 27.—E. L. W. Hermann, a confectioner, committed suicide here by shooting himself in the heart. His wife, who witnessed the suicide, swallowed carbolic acid, lay down beside him and soon expired. Business reverses caused Wahrenmann to kill himself.

No Use For Them.
 "I watched your sister fixing her hair the other day," said Mrs. Nagget, "and I must say she's not the most refined person in the world."
 "No?" replied her husband, with a belligerent air. "You don't approve of her, eh?"
 "Well," she retorted with a disdainful sniff, "you'd never see me with my mouth full of hairpins."
 "Of course not," he snapped. "What would you want with so many hairpins?"—Catholic Standard and Times.

Up to James.
 An official was describing, at a dinner at Washington, an unfair law.
 "The people under this law," he said, "are very much in the position of a young Washington attaché. As the attaché was breakfasting the other morning his servant said to him: 'You are out of whisky, sir. Shall I get a bottle?'"
 "Yes, I think you might, James," the other replied. "It's your turn."—Washington Star.

FARMERS NOT SO RICH
 Witness Says It Is Not What It Is Cracked Up to Be.
 Chicago, Oct. 27.—The prosperity of the farmer isn't all that it is cracked up to be. His work is long; his reward is small.
 In fact in the state of Iowa, where visions of bulging bins mislead the casual observer with notions of ease and plenty, the average farmer, who cultivates a quarter section of land "constructively," is out of pocket $300 a year.
 Such was the startling evidence given by a former Iowa farmer in the interstate commerce commission freight hearing. It was the first shell of the shippers who in arriving at their position of what the railroads of the west are entitled to earn as a fair return on their investment wish to have considered the profit the struggling farmer regards as a good return.
 Of course the $300 loss is not actual loss, explained H. C. Wallace, of Des Moines, who occupied the witness chair, because if it were the farmer could not live. But the reason the actual loss is covered is because the farmer does not count the value of his own labor, and he makes his children work instead of hiring help.
 Then the average farmer does without the things that the city man considers necessities of life. His clothes consist of a pair of overalls, a shirt, a pair of cotton socks and a hat that was given to him as an advertisement. His best suit or Sunday clothes costs him about $15, where the average city man pays from $25 to $40.

 Appraisers' Valuation of Author's Property.
 Redding, Conn., Oct. 27.—The inventory of Mark Twain's (Samuel L. Clemens) estate as returned by the appraisers, Albert Bigelow Paine and Harry A. Lounsbury, to the probate court for the district of Redding shows a total of $611,136, of which $70,000 represents realty and the remaining $541,136 personal property.
 The residence, Stormfield, and the 200 acres belonging to it are appraised at $66,000, and the cottage known as the "Lobster Pot," with its twenty acres, at $4000.
 The copyright values of the Mark Twain books appear nowhere in the list as such. The explanation of this is that these values are grouped in the valuation placed upon the assets of the Mark Twain company, which was incorporated a year or two before the author's death and to which all the copyrights were assigned. This company is down on the inventory list at $200,000.
 The return shows that the late Mr. Clemens was the victim of some unfortunate investments, the chief of these being his venture in the securities of the Plasmon Milk Product company.
 Mrs. Ossip Gabrilowitch, Mr. Clemens' daughter and only heir, sailed for Europe Saturday, leaving instructions that Stormfield and the real estate be sold.
 A. P. HEINZE GOES TO JAIL
 Must Serve Ten Days For Assisting Witness to Go to Canada.
 New York, Oct. 27.—Within a half hour after Arthur P. Heinze, convicted of obstructing the administration of justice, surrendered to United States Marshal Henckel he was in the Tombs prison, ready to serve a ten day's sentence, but declaring: "I'll be out in time to vote."
 Heinze was convicted in the United States circuit court on Oct. 26, 1909, for assisting Tracy Buckingham, a witness wanted by the federal grand jury, to go to Canada. He was sentenced to ten days in prison and ordered to pay a fine of $250. He took an appeal and a few days ago the United States supreme court affirmed the conviction.

Will Issue New Greenbacks.
 Washington, Oct. 27.—On the recommendation of A. Hyatt Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury, Secretary MacVeagh ordered an issue of United States notes or "greenbacks" in denominations of one dollar up to an amount of $75,000,000. These new $1 notes will bear issue to take the place of outstanding greenbacks of the denomination of $20 and upwards.

Miss Martindale noticed this feature of the case and felt that she had received a check. She knew that the key is nine points in the law governing the occupancy of houses and considered herself temporarily defeated.
 She had no key from which to have a duplicate made. She might get a locksmith to come and fit a key, but that would require time, and meanwhile Mr. Eldridge might move in. In any event he had a key to the premises and could get in when he liked.
 Miss Martindale concluded to change her tactics. She wrote a note to Mr. Eldridge, which she sent through Mr. Rogers, stating that since it seemed that there had been a mistake made by the agent in renting the premises to two different persons she thought the one least needing them should give way to the other; that she represented a family of three and if Mr. Eldridge stood for more than that she would give way to him. If not she thought he should give way to her.
 Mr. Eldridge replied that he had rented the flat intending to turn it over for a meeting place and supply depot for a ladies' charitable society; therefore he thought that Miss Martindale should give way to this society.
 Miss Martindale knew that this was a subterfuge, but she didn't see how she could take that ground with Mr. Eldridge. Again, she felt that she was defeated, and again she changed her tactics. Feeling confidence in her persuasive powers—with a man—she wrote Mr. Eldridge a second note, sending it through the same medium, proposing a conference. Mr. Eldridge, instead of replying to the note, surprised her with a call.
 Mr. Eldridge was dressed with far more care than was to be expected in one who had called on a mere matter of business. He wore a frock coat, blue cravat with white dots and gloves without blemish. Miss Martindale received him graciously and was sure they would reach an understanding. She proposed a compromise. He assented. Then she named a compromise which would be perfectly satisfactory—viz, that Mr. Eldridge give up the flat to her.
 Mr. Eldridge leaned back in his seat and smiled one of his most fascinating smiles.
 They got no further during the evening nor during a number of evenings that Mr. Eldridge made other calls. The flat remained vacant. Mr. Eldridge paying the rent.
 One day Miss Martindale called on Mr. Rogers with an order from Mr. Eldridge for the key of the disputed flat. When he gave it to her he said: "You told me you would show me how you would win. Kindly do so."
 "Mr. Eldridge will occupy the flat with us," she said. "We are to be married next week."

DISPUTED POSSESSION
 By EDITH V. ROSS
 Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

"I am sorry, Miss Martindale," said John Rogers, real estate agent, "that you didn't close with me yesterday. Mr. Robert Eldridge has just signed a lease of the property."
 "I understood that you gave me a refusal."
 "You were mistaken."
 Miss Martindale had suddenly discovered that she wanted the flat in question very much. She was disappointed. "I'm going to have it anyway," she said.
 "I would like to know how?" asked Mr. Rogers.
 "I know who this man Eldridge is; he's Bob Eldridge of the Athenaeum club, a bachelor. He doesn't need the flat and I do. He has no family, while I have my mother and little brother."
 "Will you kindly inform me what that has to do with property for which a written lease has been given?"
 "No, but I will show you."
 Miss Martindale lived across the street from the apartment house in question, and when she saw Bob Eldridge enter it she went over and up to the flat. Opening the door, she went in and, seeing the gentleman there, looked surprised.
 "If you are looking at this flat," she said, "with a view to taking it you are too late. I have just notified the agent that I would take it."
 "Pardon me, madam," with an apologetic smile, "it is you who are mistaken. I have my lease here in my pocket."
 He took it out and showed it to her. She waved it aside. "That's nothing," she said. "Everybody knows that a verbal lease is good. Mine is verbal. I have had the refusal of these rooms for a week."
 "You must be mistaken. Mr. Rogers said nothing about having given any one a refusal."
 "I am not accountable for Mr. Rogers' blunders. I must ask you to retire. I am desirous of having the rooms cleaned before moving in and wish to see what's to be done."
 "Did Mr. Rogers give you the key?"
 "No," he said that you had taken the key.
 "He gave it to me. I will retire. You can easily get out from within."
 Now, Mr. Eldridge was a gallant man and would doubtless have scorned to push his claims, however just, against a woman. But in this case the lady was under the disadvantage of being very attractive. I say disadvantage because her attractiveness prompted Mr. Eldridge to enter upon a contest with her that he might thus bring about an acquaintance. He bowed himself out very politely, hat in hand, and departed—with the key.

Miss Martindale noticed this feature of the case and felt that she had received a check. She knew that the key is nine points in the law governing the occupancy of houses and considered herself temporarily defeated.
 She had no key from which to have a duplicate made. She might get a locksmith to come and fit a key, but that would require time, and meanwhile Mr. Eldridge might move in. In any event he had a key to the premises and could get in when he liked.

MADE GOOD AS A COOK.

The Old Lumberman Got Supper Without the Least Effort.

"Nowadays a cook is provided for each camp," said the old lumberman who has worked on the St. Croix, the Penobscot and the St. John, "but in my days of lumbering we took turns, a week at a time, or one man would make all the bread, another the tea and coffee, and so on through the bill of fare. Once in awhile—generally before they'd got licked into their regular winter mold—some fellow would kick against the routine; he's been hired to do something else, or he'd be hanged if he'd cook, anyhow." Then there were ructions.

"I remember one little rebellion that began hot and roaring and died down into a laugh all round, thanks to an ingenious old soul, all quiet good nature and fat—Uncle Ned, we called him.

"We got back to camp one night to find the fire nearly out and nothing ready for supper. We were all hungry—and grumpy, as sometimes happens in the best regulated crews. Each in turn declared he wouldn't be cook, and it looked like a supperless night till Uncle Ned spoke up in his quiet way.

"Dear me," says he, "what a time about cooking! Why, it's the easiest thing in nature to get supper. Now, boys, if you'll all wait on me I'll be cook."

"They all agreed. This being settled, Uncle Ned sat down on a spruce chair and let his assistants have it.

"Now, Dick," said he, "the first thing for you to do is to get a little wood and start up the fire."

"Isaac, just step down to the brook and fetch a pail of water.

"You, Mac, while the fire's getting under way, wash a few potatoes and get 'em ready to put on when the pot boils.

"Now, Jake, you cut a few slices of pork and put it on over the fire to fry."

"But, Uncle Ned," we all shouted together, "you was to get supper!"

"Yes," said he, calm and easy as ever, "I was to get supper, but you were to wait upon me. Tom," said he, "you'd better get the dishes ready."

"We kicked some, but 'twas no use; we'd agreed to wait on him if he'd be cook.

"When everything was ready for supper, there the old man still sat in his spruce chair—hadn't stirred an inch!

"Dear me, dear me," said he, "here I have got supper, and 'twas one of the easiest things in the world."

"We were 'caught,'" smiled the old lumberman, "and we sat down to supper in good temper, and ever afterward we had Uncle Ned's proposition for a byword; we'd agree to do any living thing provided we could be 'waited upon.'"—Youth's Companion.

Acknowledge It

Gettysburg, Pa. to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Gettysburg given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this:

Mrs. M. Oiler, 116 W. Middle Street, Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I was troubled by weak and disordered kidneys for over a year. My back ached constantly and pains extended from my loins into my head. I had chills and dizzy spells and was bothered by irregular passages of the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills were so highly recommended that I finally procured a box at the People's Drug Store and commenced their use. A few doses brought relief and after continuing the use of this remedy for a short time, all symptoms of my trouble had disappeared. Doan's Kidney Pills deserve my endorsement." (Statement given November 1, 1907.)

A WILLING CORROBORATION.

On January 3, 1910, when Mrs. Oiler was interviewed, she said: "I heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills again and confirm all I have previously said about them. This remedy should have a permanent place in every household."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Post R-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

LOST AIRMEN LAND SAFELY

Struggle For Week to Escape From Quebec Wilderness.

ALL RECORDS ARE BROKEN

Hawley and Post, Who Were Given Up For Dead, Wire News of Great Feat. Travelled 1350 Miles.

New York, Oct. 27.—Alan R. Hawley and Augustus Post, crew of the America II, which left St. Louis Oct. 17 in the international balloon race, are safe in Northern Quebec province.

Word was received from there by telegraph. They landed a week ago. Grave fears that they had lost their lives in the northern wilderness had been entertained until now.

The word came from St. Ambroise, Saguenay, that the America II, landed near Peribouka, Chicoutimi county, twenty-five miles from Roberval. Messrs. Hawley and Post descended by White river and Bear river and left for Chicoutimi, which is 227 miles north of Quebec, where train connection is had by the Quebec & Lake St. John railway.

S. S. Perkins, who was the aide in the balloon Dusseldorf, received a telegram from Hawley and Post, telling of the safe landing of their balloon and of their personal safety. The message, dated St. Ambroise, Quebec, is as follows:

"Landed Peribouka river, North Lake Chicoutimi, 19th. All well; returning Hawley, Post."

William Hawley, brother of Alan R. Hawley, received the following telegram, also dated St. Ambroise:

"Landed in wilderness week ago fifty miles north of Chicoutimi. Both well. Alan."

With the information at hand it is likely that the distance traveled by Hawley and Post to the Peribouka river is nearly 1350 miles.

The balloonists are easily the winners of the Gordon Bennett prize of $5000.

The telegrams sent from St. Ambroise by Hawley and Post show that they came to earth on the same day that the Dusseldorf II, landed, and that the difficulties of travel were so great that it took them a whole week to get back to the end of a telegraph wire.

St. Ambroise is not big enough to get on the map, but it is about forty miles north of Chicoutimi, where the Saguenay river steamers make their last stop northbound.

How many of those seven days were spent in an unaided struggle with the wilderness cannot be known until Mr. Hawley and his companion send further details. The country in which they landed is a network of lakes and rivers, dense forests and impassable marshes.

Perkins and his companion took four days and nights in traveling seventeen miles through similar country, and they lost most of their clothing in the fight with the brush.

Manila, Philippines, Oct. 27.—Two bands of Manobo tribesmen (head hunters) are depredating the west coast of Davao in the southeastern part of Mindanao island. They have killed several planters, including Earl Gerr, an American.

All available troops were ordered to the scene. Brigadier General John J. Pershing, commanding the department of Mindanao, has left his headquarters at Zamboanga to command the reinforcements which are being hurried to Davao.

The Manobos Dattos declare their purpose of expelling all foreigners and Filipinos from the district.

RECORD PRICE FOR BACON

Chicago Pays 35 Cents on Account of Scarcity of Porkers.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—In the face of a steady decline in the price of hogs and corn, on which they are fed, Chicagoans who desired to eat bacon discovered that they were compelled to pay the highest price ever obtained for the salt meat in times of peace—35 cents a pound sliced.

The sole reason for the situation according to C. W. Foster, a veteran provision dealer, lies in the shortage of bacon producing hogs.

No matter what the facts might seem to indicate, said he, the difficulty lies in the inability of the packers to buy the porkers.

This situation, he said, would be changed in the interest of the public and lower prices just as soon as a new yield of hogs could be produced from cheaper corn.

TAFT SENDS KNOX TO STUMP IN OHIO

To Speak For Republican Ticket There But Not in Penna.

Washington, Oct. 27.—President Taft has decided to send two of the members of his cabinet to Ohio to take part in the last week of the campaign for the Republican ticket.

Secretary of State Knox will speak at Cincinnati Nov. 1 and at Columbus Nov. 2.

Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh will make several speeches, but the dates and places have not yet been fixed.

So far as known Secretary Knox will not take the stump in Pennsylvania. The fact that he will not speak for the Republican ticket in his own state, but will go to Ohio has caused some comment in political circles here. Both of his speeches in Ohio will be at meetings at which Warren G. Harding, the Republican nominee for governor, will also speak.

UTILITIES CO. ASKS DAMAGES

Corporation Tender Once Managed Sues North American.

$250,000 AMOUNT ASKED

Corporation Is Also Defendant in Suits on $600 Note and a Real Estate Transaction.

Philadelphia, Oct. 27.—The National Public Utilities company, of which John K. Tener, the Republican nominee for governor, was for a time president and a director, instituted a civil suit against E. A. Van Valkenburg and the North American.

The amount asked is $250,000, and although no statement has been filed in the case, the cause of the action were alleged slanderous statements published by the defendants in a series of attacks made upon Tener, in which his connection with the plaintiff corporation was shown not to have been as savory as it might have been. The defendant corporation in publishing the articles alleged to be libellous had included letters purporting to have passed between Tener and the various clients of the company.

No Statement Filed.

J. Fred Hartmann, counsel for the National Public Utilities company, filed the writ, but did not file the statement of the suit. He said that his clients took exception to the statements made by the defendants, in which it was declared that the plaintiff corporation had been carrying on a business which was not above suspicion and had been floating stocks upon the open market which were valueless.

Tener had repudiated any transactions of the company which had not been legal and had declared that his connection with the company had been limited to two months, for which time he had been paid a salary and had retired.

The North American stated that it had no statement to give out.

Utilities Company Sued.

The National Public Utilities company figured as a defendant in two civil suits brought against it by the Textile National bank, of Philadelphia, and by F. J. McWade. The first suit is upon a note for $600, the indorser of which does not appear upon the records, since no statement has been filed in the case. The National Public Utilities company is the indorser upon the note, and it is alleged has refused to make payment of the amount due.

The second suit involves a real estate transaction, in which building lots in Astoria figured. Charles S. Woods, attorney for McWade, refused to discuss the facts of the case, giving as his reason that a bill in equity would be filed in a few days and, therefore, it would not be well to divulge any of the facts at this time.

WILL MARRY IF ELECTED

Candidate For Governor of Wisconsin Says It Will Be Hard to Fulfill Pledge.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 27.—Pledging himself to marry if he is elected governor, Francis E. McGovern, Republican candidate, has removed the probability of Wisconsin having a bachelor executive.

In taking the matrimonial pledge at Sheboygan, McGovern said that would be the most difficult plank in his platform to fulfill. His face resembled an Oregon apple when he was asked if he had any woman in view or if any woman had promised to marry him if he was elected governor, and he blurted out:

"I'll have to find some one who will marry me, but I'll make good on the promise."

Stone Throw Deadly.

Chester, Pa., Oct. 27.—An investigation is being made by the local police authorities into the death of John Scott, fifty-five years old, who died at the Chester hospital from injuries he received when struck in the face with a stone at Rockdale, where he resided for two years. John Wright, thirty-five years old, of Rockdale, was arrested, accused of throwing the missile. Mrs. Josephine Kelly, at whose home Scott boarded, was also held without bail.

Bride Has Most Whiskers.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 27.—Grace Gilbert, who has been the "bearded lady" attraction of several road shows, was married here to Giles E. Calvin, a farmer of Kalkaska, Mich. The bride has a beard—eighteen inches long, while the bridegroom boasts nothing but a mustache.

Five Sailors Saved at Sea.

London, Oct. 27.—The captain and four men from the American schooner Florence Leland were picked up by the British steamship Commodore, from New Orleans, Oct. 8, for Liverpool, which passed Old Head of Kin-sale. The Leland was wrecked during the recent storms.

Middy Has Chronic Seasickness.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Midshipman Ruskin Pierce Hall, of Dayton, O., has resigned from the navy because of chronic seasickness. He is now on duty on board the battleship Delaware. He was appointed a midshipman on Aug. 6, 1906.

Miss Eileen O'Malley
in "Uncle Dave Holcomb"

If you want a breath of fresh country air go to Walter's Theatre next Monday, October 31, and see William Lawrence in "Uncle Dave Holcomb."

As the name suggests it is a rural play, but unlike most efforts of its kind. The play is a most original one and appeals to all who have seen it. Many surprising situations are unfolded, one after another, and a temperance rally interspersed with sweet cider and doughnuts brings the play to a happy termination. And as the curtain descends on the last act Uncle Dave declares that "life is just one darn thing after another." Mr. Lawrence is supported by the beautiful Irish American actress, Miss. Ellen O'Malley and a carefully selected company. Mr. Lawrence personally guarantees this attraction.
